

SPECIFICATION AMENDMENTS

Please amend the paragraph/section beginning on page 6, line 13, as follows:

In FIG. 2, a front view of the present invention is shown. The holder 1 has a predetermined diameter, is open-ended and is hollow to allow for the acceptance of various sized fishing pole handles.

Please amend the paragraph/section beginning on page 7, line 1, as follows:

attached to the base pole 2, a hollow attachment piece 6 is attached to the underside of the holder 1. The attachment piece 6 has a diameter slightly larger than the diameter of the base pole 2 so as to fit snugly over the end of the base pole 2. When the user is finished using the fishing pole holder, he or she can simply detach the holder 1 from the base pole 2 for compact storage.

While a pressure fitting means for attachment may be shown for attaching the holder 1 to the base pole 2 in the drawings, it should also be known that other attaching means, such as glue, tape or other adhesive attaching means, may be used to attach the holder 1 to the base pole 2.

The use of the present invention will allow fishermen and fisherwomen the ability to keep fishing at an ideal fishing angle without holding the fishing pole.
